

APP TERMS AND CONDITIONS (THE “POLICY”)

Honey Tech Company aims to respect and shield your privacy issues.

1. EXTENT OF OUR TERMS & CONDITIONS

The terms and conditions of our services are available on our company’s web address

<http://pakvote.com/>. Our terms extend to the following:

1. The application PakVote is downloadable from the authorized app stores (name the app stores). The apk for the application is available for download on any smartphone or any handheld smart device.
2. Moreover, our terms and conditions affirm the fundamental conditions on which we collect any relevant data from our users. The following content will provide an insight of the required data of users and the way we treat that.
3. Furthermore, Honey Tech has established a particular department to deal with the security and privacy of users’ data and other relevant subjects.

2. DATA PROCESSING AND USERS APPROVAL

- The process of attaining information and personal data of the users of PakVote respects the imperativeness of users’ consent before processing any further.
- Users have to provide their approval at almost every step from registration to installation and activation of the application. Through such approval, users show their consent to allow our application and services to use and access only their provided data.
- In case the users do not approve our terms and conditions, they may not use any Honey Tech’s applications and services.

3. INFORMATION WE MAY REQUIRE FROM USERS (SUBMITTED INFORMATION)

The following data and information are required to use the application:

- The user can either submit the data through an electronic form that is available on the site <http://pakvote.com/> or can use email to correspond with Honey Tech website.
- The information may include other contact details like phone number, email address, username, and password and sometimes age.
- The app may require permission to access your phone book data to continue the app's operation.
- Moreover, if the user has a social media account (like Facebook or Instagram etc.); the application will require the account information which remains private and secure.

4. INFORMATION COLLECTED ABOUT THE USER AND THEIR DEVICE (COLLECTED INFORMATION)

The system is designed to collect specific information regarding the user upon every visit on Honey Tech's website and by using any of our application or services automatically. Such information may include:

- PakVote application requires technical particulars such as model and system version of your device or smartphone. Moreover, IMEI number, or any other Unique Device Identifier, wireless network interface, the mobile phone number, and other network related information are subject to be collected through such process. Other technical information may comprise of device specifics such as RAM, the applications running in the background, internet connection, advertising options, and Bluetooth setting. PakVote also requires knowing your location to expand the scope of some specially designed features.
- PakVote application requires having permission to access your media files including photos and audio, video files as well as camera and Wi-Fi connection, and phone calls details.

5. TERMS REGARDING COOKIES

PakVote employs cookies in order to distinguish you from other users. Several users are using the application or the apps site and other services, and therefore it is important to distinguish them from one another. Such cookies, in turn, allow users to indulge in a premium experience throughout usage of application and browsing of services. Our policies also augment the efficacy of the application and services performance.

6. HOW PAKVOTE APPLICATION USES YOUR INFORMATION

PakVote uses your collected information in the following manner.

- We may use submitted information to carry out underlying obligations generated through any contracts held among PakVote and the users. Through such information, we interconnect you with our other similar products and services to expand our valuable users' network. Submitted information also us assists to cater the queries of our users, and helps us establish a communicational bridge between Honey Tech Company, users, and third parties. Moreover, through such information, we apply changes and modifications in the application.
- Collected information used to administer and organize Honey Tech's services and sites to sustain internal operations. Such operations include analysis of subsequent data, troubleshooting, and surveying and statistical research. It also gives us a substantial insight of applications and services performance and helps us take further initiative to boost the effectiveness. Furthermore, the collected information works as a tool to guard the security and privacy issues of our users and helps to measure the overall efficiency and quality of our advertisements. In addition, through a collection of such data and information Honey Tech makes a recommendation to its users regarding similar sites or applications that might interest a particular cluster of users.

7. WHEN WE SHARE USERS' DATA AND INFORMATION

Some users' information is subject to sharing with third parties, individuals or some applications and organizations with the consent of the user.

8. OUR SECURITY POLICY

Honey Tech Company takes serious and considerable measures to shelter your private and personal information and data. Such preventive measures evade the peril of loss and misuse of access as well as alteration, disclosure, and destruction. We implement encryption that transmits data through SSL technology. Moreover, we also manage the physical security of our users' records within our premises. To observe a strict and flawless security system we restrict the access of information to our employees and other stakeholders including agents, third parties, and contractors.

9. USERS' RIGHTS

All of our users have explicit rights to deny access to their information and data for marketing etcetera. The application informs the user at the time of collection and submission of data if it intends to employ the information for such purposes. It is advisable that users carefully read all the terms and condition before consenting to them, regarding experiencing links and advertisements from third parties.

10. CONTACT US

You are more than welcome to communicate any recommendations or comments regarding our terms and conditions. The management team of Honey Tech too will address queries and questions.